

Water and Sewer Line Protection Mailing: Not Endorsed by City of Deer Park

November 19, 2012

Residents of the City of Deer Park may soon be receiving letters from companies offering water and sewer line protection programs directly to residents. A company named American Water Resources of Texas has notified the City about notices that this company will send to residents offering "water and sewer line protection programs." Also, a company named HomeServe has notified the City that the company will send notices to residents offering "water service line coverage." Residents are advised that the City of Deer Park does not endorse either of these companies or the programs offered by these companies.

While these programs offered by American Water Resources of Texas and HomeServe may be legitimate services, they are not endorsed by the City. The City recommends residents perform their own due diligence in checking out any company they consider doing business with, especially when they do not initiate the contact themselves.
